WFF Research & Advocacy GPE Fellowship at Women Faculty Forum

Graduate Professional Experience Host Office Description

Established in 2001, the Yale Women Faculty Forum came together to highlight the importance of women faculty at the University with a focus on gender equity through research, advocacy, and community building. Since its inception, and with the support of the President and Provost of Yale, the WFF has evolved into an organization of women faculty who work together to:

- Foster gender equity throughout the University through policy initiatives and research
- Promote scholarship by women and on women and gender across all schools of the University
- Create mentoring, sponsoring and networking opportunities

Host Mentors

Reina Maruyama, PhD (current chair, Yr. 2021-2023)

Professor of Physics & Astronomy

Chair, Women Faculty Forum

Graduate Professional Experience Fellow Responsibilities

The GPE fellow would be assigned to work on WFF advocacy and research projects and may also participate in our broader community building work. WFF advocacy projects in the past have included creating The View, research, data collection and analysis regarding gender and diversity issues on campus, increasing Title IX awareness, and communications and outreach to our greater community. In addition, participating and supporting efforts for more accessible childcare and family supports for Yale Faculty and Staff through the Yale Childcare Consultative Committee.

Graduate Professional Experience Learning Objectives and Opportunities

- From participation in WFF’s work in advocacy, community building, and research, the fellow will have a greater understanding of gender equity work in a university setting.
- By working with “The View” data and other research projects, fellows will be able to create dynamic advocacy materials appropriate for stakeholders across the university.
- Through a Spring advocacy project, fellows will be able to develop and plan the implementation of a data-driven gender equity initiative.

Desired Qualifications

- Ability to work in a team environment on deadline.
- Ability to work independently and take initiative
- Attention to detail along with clear, concise writing skills.
- Writing, research, data management and reporting experience with advocacy or policy writing experience welcome.

Duration of position

Entire academic year – Fall 2023 and Spring 2024
